

From the Desk of the Editor-in-Chief

The Social Science Spectrum is pleased to launch its 4th issue of Volume 2 – the final number of the current volume. With this, we complete a journey of two eventful years during which the journal has seen important contributions from the scholars from within the country and abroad. The journal has already made a special impact among the demographers and the academicians working on the issues related to health and health economics. In the present volume, we have six articles and the topics of the articles spread from Sweden to Kerala and Andhra Pradesh ! There are articles on health and as well as on marriage and custom, an area which has relevance in different branches of social science – viz. anthropology, sociology and economics. We have been receiving good number of articles from academicians and also from the budding social scientists. We hope to flourish further and maintain our standard in our journey forward. It is hoped that in the 3rd year of our publication we shall be able to diversify further and also maintain the time schedule. On behalf of the Social Science Spectrum I express our sincere gratitude to all those well wishers, including the honourable members of the Editorial Board, the contributors and the support staff for timely publication of the journal.

Editor